

New found career during pandemic

Are you going mad thinking about how you can improve your career and future? Were you one of the employees who lost your job due to a pandemic?

Things turned upside down when the government declared community lockdown. Lots of establishments closed down which resulted from employees being laid off from their jobs and others bringing their work from home. Work-from-home was one of the most trending topics during the community lockdown, but it created new opportunities and ideas for most of the unemployed and looking for extra income individuals.

My guide to freelancing career

Freelance became the popular choice for most individual, especially for those who are escaping from 8 to 5 or 9 to 6 office jobs and some because of having a new job was almost impossible to find. I want to be a freelancer but my question to myself was what kind of freelancer can I be. Searching for the most popular freelance job, I have decided to choose Virtual Assistant. Not knowing what really is it I have decided to search more about it until I found FVA Consultancy that trains and guide new virtual assistant to land a job. Enrolling in FVA Academy is a life changing career solution, they have provided my lack of learning as a virtual assistant. They have molded their students to be a better provider of service by their guidance.

What I achieved through my training for my new found career

1. Improved my skills

As a freelancer, you must improve the skills required as a virtual assistant like oral and written communication, computer skills, self motivation and discipline, quick thinking and decision-making and many more. Since you will be working in your own comfort zone you will need these skills to work on your own. During the training doing the portfolios were also improving our skills secretly.

2. My Upwork was approved

Before my training, I created my upwork and always get declined . I did not know creating a upwork profile needs a standard skills to get the attention of clients. During my training with the FVA Academy, My Upwork profile got approved within 24 hours and now it already 90% to completion.

3. Portfolios

As a nob in this freelance industry, FVA Academy helped me provide my own portfolio. Portfolio is the compilation of my skills gathered throughout the experience and with my portfolio it will be my ticket to grab the attention of my future clients. It shows what I have learned and what I will be capable to offer in my service.

4. Experience

Choosing this career path is a life changing experience. The experience to be able to work at your own schedule, wearing your most comfortable clothing to work and the comfort of being at home while working. Creating your own service line to promote your service to clients and working with different clients; most of all being part of your clients business success.
